What is Marketplace?

In general terms a Marketplace is 'an open space where a market is/ was formerly held'. It means a space which is facilitating relation between sellers and customers. There are sellers selling goods to numerous customers in a Marketplace.

An online marketplace (or online e-commerce marketplace) is a type of e-commerce site where product or service information is provided by multiple third parties, whereas transactions are processed by the marketplace operator. Online marketplaces are the primary type of multi channel e-commerce.

In an online marketplace, consumer transactions are processed by the marketplace operator and then delivered and fulfilled by the participating retailers or wholesalers (often called drop shipping). Other capabilities might include auctioning (forward or reverse), catalogs, ordering, wanted advertisement, trading exchange functionality and capabilities like RFQ, RFI or RFP.

In general, as marketplaces aggregate products from a wide array of providers, selection is usually more wide, availability is higher, and prices are more competitive compared to vendor-specific online retail stores.

Examples of online marketplaces are Amazon.com, etsy, eBay, Snapdeal, Flipkart, Kaymu, Rakuten, and NASDAQ.
